Holes placed perilously close to the ocean heighten the challenge at this, the elder statesman of Bermuda country clubs. Since 1922, golfers have marvelled at the requirements of accuracy of this tight course. The course is built on a 600 acre peninsula and water is in view on many holes. Though it's yardage seems short, Riddell's Bay is a challenge for all levels of golfers. At the Club you will find a pro shop as well as dining options.
